IN PHILIPPINESTOKYO'S DEFENDING
AIR FORCES ARE ANNIHILATED

BY C. YATES MCDANIEL
General Headquarters, South-west Pacific, Saturday, Sept. 9 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today that "our air forces now dominate the southern Philippines."

This followed up by one day his announcement that Allied aircraft are roaming the Moluccas at will and the Japanese Sixth air division, defending western New Guinea, had been virtually annihilated. The Moluccas sweep southwestward of the Philippines and include heavily-blasted Halmahera.

The general's announcement today was coupled with the report that Liberators wrecked the Santa Anna seaplane base, while Mitchells smashed the Buayan airfield, both in southern Mindanao island. The raids were staged Wednesday, and there was no aerial opposition.

Human Torpedoes
Are Wiped Out In Channel Fighting

Allied Naval Headquarters, Sept. 8 (AP)—More than 300 enemy naval craft, including more than 100 "human torpedoes" and explosive motorboats, have been destroyed off the northern coast of France since D-day, it was disclosed here today at the headquarters of Admiral Sir Bertram H. Ramsey, naval commander-in-chief for the western front.

There has been fighting in the channel almost every night—fighting which has been largely unreported—but convoys have been going across nevertheless at an average rate of 16 daily.

By D-day-plus-28, the Allied navy, working with remarkable cooperation, had delivered 1,000,000 men to France and more than 183,500 vehicles and 650,000 tons of stores—an average of one vehicle and more than a ton of stores for every five men.

That period included a disastrous four-day gale which started June 14 and destroyed an enormous number of craft and disrupted the cross-channel shuttle service. Nearly all of the vessels that failed to make shelter were pounded to pieces on the beaches.

Trailer Murderer
Of Wife Gets Life

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Sept. 8 (AP)—Virgil L. Manuel, 41, who pleaded guilty to the murder of his wife in their trailer home in nearby Van Dyke Tuesday, was sentenced today to life imprisonment in Southern Michigan prison.

Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland of Pontiac, sitting in the Macomb circuit court, imposed the sentence.

Mrs. Manuel's body was found Wednesday after he was arrested in Detroit trying to break into a downtown building from which, he told detectives, he planned to jump and kill himself. The body of Mrs. Edith Manuel, 33, was found in the trailer, the head battered and the throat cut.

In a confession Manuel said his wife had been "running around with other men." Both came here from Oklahoma to work in war plants.

Lansing And Owosso
Set To Greet Dewey

BY JACK I. GREEN
Lansing, Sept. 8 (AP)—Michigan awaited tonight the arrival of Thomas E. Dewey, a native son whom Republicans hope to elevate to the presidency of the United States.

At Lansing and Owosso, the only two cities which will be given a view of the presidential nominee, final polishes were being placed on closely-timed schedules for Dewey's week-end visit to the state of his birth.

Lansing planned to greet Dewey and his official party at 12:45 p. m., E. W. T. Saturday and to host him into seven hours of conferences with upwards of 500 political leaders from every corner

ALLIES AIMING FOR PO VALLEYGerman Reserves Are Squandered To Hold
Gothic Line

BY NOLAND NORGAARD
Rome, Sept. 8 (AP)—A deadly battle of attrition raged tonight along a 12-mile sector near the Adriatic coast, with the Germans squandering reserves in a final desperate effort to hold the Allies out of the great Po Valley and northern Italy.

Some British Eighth army units had bored their way to the banks of the Marano river, only four miles from Rimini, coastal anchor of the enemy's rugged Gothic line, but massing Nazi forces behind the stream promised only more hard, bloody slugging for the attacking troops.

German losses were reported to have been extremely severe in recent days, yet Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring appeared willing to pay any price to prevent breakthrough. Once the Gothic line is pierced a vast force of Allied armor is ready to deploy swiftly across the plains beyond and cut the escape routes of enemy troops manning the remainder of the line all the way westward to the Ligurian sea.

American troops, completing a solid year of campaigning on the Italian mainland, advanced to within two miles of Pistoia, last important city south of the Gothic line remaining in German hands. Farther west doughboy patrols pushed well north of Lucca.

OTAWA, Sept. 8 (AP)—Canadian army casualties in all war theaters since the outbreak of war totaled 33,239 at July 31, the defense department announced tonight.

The figures include 9,501 dead, 287 presumed dead, 1,305 missing, 3,500 captured and 18,348 wounded.

of the state, assembled to breathe enthusiasm from their national leader and to hear plans for their state campaign.

The candidate is to attend what probably is the largest gathering of party leaders in many years. It will include the chairmen and vice-chairmen of 83 county Republican committees, the state central committee, the board of control of the Young Republican organization, Republican legislative candidates, representatives of the Republican women's organization and the Wayne county Republican executive committee.

Later, he will talk for half-hour periods with representatives of labor, negroes, agriculturists, veterans and with daily and weekly newspaper publishers of the state.

Dewey, officials said, clings to his refusal to make an important address in Michigan on this visit, but will speak briefly at Owosso Saturday after he arrives from Lansing at 8:45 p. m. He will be introduced to an expected large crowd in his home town by Governor Kelly.

AIRMEN BATTER
RHINE TARGETSFactories And Railways
Behind Siegfried
Line Blasted

BY ERNEST AGNEW
London, Sept. 8 (AP)—Fighting their way through a storm and temperatures as low as 50 below zero, almost 1,500 Flying Fortress and Liberators blasted four top priority German targets in the Rhineland directly behind the Siegfried Line today.

The targets for the big formations of U. S. bombers included the synthetic oil and chemical plants at Ludwigshafen, pounded for the fourth time in two weeks, the vital railway freight yards at Karlsruhe just behind the Siegfried Line, equipment at storage depots at Kastel and a tank factory at Gustavsburg, both on the outskirts of Mainz. This was the first air attack on the latter two targets.

Flak was especially heavy over Ludwigshafen and 20 of the great fleet of bombers were missing although all of the 500 escorting Mustang fighters returned safely. U. S. heavy bombers of the Mediterranean air force also struck during the day at railroad yards and bridges throughout Eastern Yugoslavia in direct support of the Red army and Marshal Tito's Partisans.

To Direct Election
Activities

Lansing, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Democratic state central committee today approved appointment by Walter C. Averill, Jr., new state chairman, of 10 deputy state chairmen to spearhead special phases of the fall election campaign.

Averill appointed Violet Patterson, Escanaba, to direct women's activities; Byron L. Ballard, of Lansing, to direct finances; former Congressman Michael J. Hart, Saginaw, to direct registration and get-out-the-vote drive; George Johnson and Ida B. Hanson, of Detroit, to direct Negro affairs; Ben Probe, former state CIO secretary, as liaison man with the CIO; Walter Wisdom, Detroit, as liaison man with the Michigan Federation of Labor and Charles Burge, Detroit, as liaison man with the Teamsters Union—AFL.

The following were appointed to fill vacancies on the state central committee: Mrs. Fred Watersworth, Huron county; Mrs. Arza Fisher, Crystal Lake; Mrs. Lavina Masselink, Big Rapids; Mrs. Louise Libby, Marquette, and Edith Barry, Detroit.

Draft Will Rely
On Boys Of 18 To Fill Up Class 1-A

Washington, Sept. 8 (AP)—Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey told local boards today that estimated 1944 needs of the armed forces probably can be filled without bringing any one else into Class 1-A except new 18-year-olds.

He did not order an end to classifications into 1-A. His message, however, could hardly fail to strengthen the position of men now holding occupational deferments, since he did not mention them as a needed source of supply.

Selective Service officers were quick to explain that such men will lose their deferments if they forsake the war effort, and that deferments will continue to expire whenever the reason for them ceases to exist.

Russian Scientist
Revives Dead Men

Washington, Sept. 8 (AP)—A Soviet Scientist has succeeded in reviving apparently dead soldiers through a combination of blood transfusion and artificial respiration, the information bulletin of the Soviet embassy said today.

Dr. Vladimir Negovsky has accomplished this in 12 cases, the bulletin said. In one case detailed, it said the soldier's attending physician certified that breathing and heart action had stopped and that other unmistakable signs of death had appeared.

SOVIETS MOVE

HUNGARY

BY W. W. HERCHER

London, Saturday, Sept. 9 (AP)—Russian troops swept unresisted into Bulgaria yesterday on a 135-mile front and captured the big Danube port of Ruse and the Black sea port of Varna, while other Soviet forces opened a new drive on imperiled Hungary.

Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian army crossed into Bulgaria from Romania in a drive aimed at swiftly crushing 250,000 Germans in neighboring Yugoslavia and Greece whose escape railways have been cut by Allied bombers and Marshal Tito's Partisans.

Alpine units under Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky, second Ukrainian army commander, climbed through 6,500-ft. Transylvanian Alps via Bolta Pass and captured the rail hub city of Sibiu, 128 miles from the prewar frontier of Hungary, last big Axis satellite nation.

Escape Routes Blocked
The Russians covered 48 miles in the first day of the new drive, turning northward from Ramiro-Valea, taken Thursday.

The Moscow bulletin said the invasion began yesterday, whereas a Berlin broadcast Thursday said the Russians had entered Bulgaria on Tuesday and raced clear across the country and into Greece, reaching the Demotika area near the Turkish frontier and only 42 miles from the Mediterranean.

In the westward drive through the Danube valley and in the new crossing into Transylvania General Malinovsky's troops captured a total of 100 towns and villages. Dispatches from Rome said the Russians already had crossed into Yugoslavia, and quoted the Mediterranean air command as saying that Allied bombers and Partisans had blocked Nazi escape routes.

They urged the Yugoslav national army of liberation to exert all their power to prevent the Germans from fleeing, telling it "now we are no longer isolated, but firmly linked with our great Allies in the struggle for our common goal."

PLANT TIED UP
AT WILLOW RUNLabor Disputes Make
30,000 Idle; Work
Week Reduced

Detroit, Sept. 8 (AP)—The giant Ford-operated Willow Run bomber plant, which has been producing a four-engine B-24 Liberator bomber every working hour, was closed this afternoon for the second time today by labor disputes.

Approximately 30,000 workers were made idle by the shutdowns, described by a company spokesman as due to a shortage of parts.

The first strike was precipitated by a dispute over transfer of 20 riveters who, the company spokesman said, refused a proposal to move them from one department to another where a shortage of riveters existed. The transfer, he said, involved no change in classification or rate of pay.

A representative of Bomber Local 50 United Automobile Workers (CIO), said the transfers had been attempted without regard to seniority.

The company spokesman said a "fair turnout" of workers reported for the afternoon shift and production would have been resumed but 75 crane operators walked out, giving "no complaint," and forcing the plant to close for the second time.

No comment was immediately available from the union.

Ogden, Utah, Sept. 8 (AP)—Robert V. Coombs, 5, and Ronald C. Coombs, 3 sons of war workers, were found dead today in the ice box of a vacant house at a wartime housing project in Davis county.

Justices of the Peace J. B. Cooley said the children, who disappeared yesterday, suffocated. Their mother found the bodies after an all-night search.

BY JOHN GROVER

A U. S. Superfortress Base In Western China, Sept. 8 (AP)—The largest force of Superfortresses yet employed bombed Anshan in Manchuria and the surrounding Japanese industrial empire today, concentrating on chemical and explosives factories. No planes were lost.

The bomb-load was the largest per plane and the largest total since the Superfortresses started their series of attacks on Japan and its satellite war industry centers.

NOTED MISSOURI
SOLON IS DEADBronchitis Attack Fatal
To James A. Reed At Alpena Ranch

Alpena, Mich., Sept. 8 (AP)—Death following an attack of bronchitis stilled today the barbed sarcasm which former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri had used in court and political battles for more than 40 years.

The 82-year-old Democrat whose fights against the League of Nations, against national prohibition, against lobbyists and election frauds paid no heed to party lines, died at 12:30 p. m. in his summer home on the 6,500-acre ranch he purchased in the Michigan woods in 1933.

Mrs. Reed, the former Nell Donnelly of Kansas City, was at his bedside and left tonight to follow his body to Kansas City where funeral services will be held.

Reed became ill with a severe cold two weeks ago and was treated in an Alpena hospital until last Sunday when he returned to his ranch where he suffered a relapse. Oxygen was administered to him this morning.

A white-haired, stately figure, Reed had been an outspoken critic of several presidents whose proposals he opposed during more than 30 years of nationally prominent activity, 18 of them in the Senate.

For his part in defeating the League of Nations President Woodrow Wilson attempted to read him out of the Democratic party but Reed won re-election in the Senate. Recently he opposed any plan for a world-wide organization after World War II.

Churchill Meets
Roosevelt Again
In Quebec City

BY C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec, Sept. 8.—Quebec City will be the scene of the next meeting between Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt at a date yet to be decided.

The two leaders, who have not met since they were at Tehran last November, will plan the conquest of Japan as well as the final phases of the European war.

Quebec was thrilled to have the two leaders here a year ago and great preparations are going forward in expectation of the forthcoming meeting.

News correspondents and camera men are here in force and the great Chateau Frontenac with its 800 rooms has been taken over in its entirety for the official delegates. The other hotels, the Clarendon and Chateau St. Louis, have been taken over for correspondents, camera men and radio correspondents.

During the course of their forthcoming discussions, it is quite possible that the liberation of France, Belgium and The Netherlands may be completed and possibly the capitulation of Germany may be announced.

INCOME TAXES REFUNDED

Detroit, Sept. 8 (AP)—Giles Kavanagh, internal revenue collector, said today approximately 181,000 checks ranging from $5 to several thousand dollars have been mailed to Michigan taxpayers as refunds on their 1943 income taxes.

ence permitted the increased bomb tonnages.

The giant planes flew in perfect formation in perfect weather and smeared the key targets in daylight. Full assessment of results awaited further interrogation of crews.

(The Japanese radio said more than 100 of the big planes participated in the raids.)

Maj. Gen. Curtis LeMay, new commander of the 20th Bomber Command, directed the massed squadrons in their dawn takeoff.

Anshan, second largest steel producer and largest coal byproduct center in the Japanese empire, was hit today in "the very core" of its chemical works, particularly the explosives plants.

Diversionsary raids were made on railroad yards at Singang, highway and rail junction on the Peiping-Hankow railway west of Chihshien.

Japanese interceptors made persistent passes at one outward bound bomber group over central China but were driven off and outdistanced.

Another formation was followed by three Zeros for a short distance but the Japanese were reluctant to get within range.

Other groups reported fighter opposition at various points en route.

(The war department's Washington announcement of the raid said that the B-29 gunners reported destroying six Japanese fighter planes, with nine others probably destroyed and eleven damaged.)

LANSING BRIBE
WITNESS FREEDLoan Company Official
Put On Probation
For Two Years

Lansing, Sept. 8 (AP)—Ernest J. Prew, former Detroit finance company official who pleaded guilty to a legislative graft conspiracy charge and gave state's testimony against his co-defendants, today was placed on probation for two years by Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr.

The judge, whose one-man grand jury caused Prew's arrest, commented upon the respondent's assistance to the prosecution in the trial in which 20 co-defendants were convicted, and declared: "I am not impressed that the ends of justice require a prison sentence be imposed on you. For that reason, Mr. Prew, I am going to put on probation for a period of two years from and after this date."

The 20 convicted of conspiring with Prew to corrupt the form of laws by bribing members of the 1939 Michigan legislature, are under sentence of three to five years in prison each, but have filed motions for new trials. Three of them are finance company officials accused of having conspired with Prew and the other 17, who are past and present members of the legislature.

Germans Preparing To Leave Finland;
Peace Talks Begin

Helsinki, Sept. 8 (AP)—The greater part of the Germans in Finland will leave Saturday after days of feverish preparation. It was reported tonight by reliable sources.

The German military staffs were said to be ready for evacuation from all of southern Finland, but reports of what was happening in northern Finland were sparse.

Various troop movements of characters which cannot be disclosed are occurring in northern Finland. Some large ships were there to transport the Germans back to the Reich.

Favorable comment was heard in Helsinki on the "dignified reception" which the Red army gave the Finnish peace delegation as it crossed Russian lines.

LIGHTS ON IN MALTA

Valletta, Malta, Sept. 8 (AP)—Malta, once the most-bombed spot on earth, ended its blackout tonight on the anniversary of the lifting of the great siege by the Turks in 1565.

LIEGE FALLS;
REICH BORDER
20 MILES OFFMORE BRIDGEHEADS
ACROSS MOSELLE
ESTABLISHED

BY WILLIAM F. BONI

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, Saturday, Sept. 9 (AP)—The U. S. First army seized the Belgian fortress of Liege and pressed on today to within 20 miles of the German frontier as enemy defenses buckled along a 200-mile front before the Siegfried line under crushing blows opening the battle for Germany.

The U. S. Third army planted three more bridgeheads across the Moselle River, last water barrier before Germany's Saar basin, and deepened them with tanks and infantry in violent fighting after smashing 6,000 enemy troops that tried to move behind it between Metz and Verdun.

Germans Kept Guessing
British and Dutch forces burst across the Albert Canal—which the Germans consider the bulwark of their northern flank—and pounded on five miles to within 25 miles of the Prussian border before colliding with German forces deployed in strength.

(The Nazi-controlled Norwegian radio said Berlin newspapers confirmed that a new western front commander-in-chief had been chosen for the climactic struggle—Field Marshal Gen. Walter Von Model, Russian front veteran, the federal communications commissioner reported.)

Supreme headquarters imposed the most stringent news blackout since just before D-day, leaving the Germans to guess where the overwhelming might of four Allied armies rolling toward the Reich would strike for the final, decisive breakthrough.

Enemy Outmaneuvered
The British Second army and the U. S. First, Third and Seventh armies were hacking through the last thin strips of Belgium and France which the outmaneuvered Germans held in front of their 400-mile Siegfried line.

The British broke the Albert Canal line at Beerling, 35 miles southeast of Antwerp, and drove five miles beyond to near Bourg-Leopold, about 25 miles from the German border—beyond which lie the Rhineland industrial cities of Dusseldorf and Cologne.

The U. S. First army, crushing enemy resistance before Liege, moved up near the city's western outskirts, with the Prussian frontier some 24 miles ahead.

A front dispatch said the Third army forced two new crossings just south of embattled Metz and a third to the south near Toul, giving the doughboys a total of five bridgeheads on the Moselle.

Aim For Belfort Gap

The Third still stuck to footholds in the big city of Metz itself, and brought up other forces north of there along the Moselle.

The American Seventh army.

MORE STUDENTS AT SENIOR HIGH

Back To School Efforts
Have Good Results
In Escanaba

Coincident with the nation-wide campaign to induce the youth of the nation to return to school, the attendance record of the Escanaba public school system is reported to be better than last year. In the senior high school alone, for instance, there are 46 more students than were enrolled last year.

In 1943 the estimate of how many students would attend the senior high school was placed at 676. Actually only 656 students did enter for the year. The estimate for 1944 was 628. On Tuesday morning 655 students attended classes at the high school.

In answer to a questionnaire sent out by Principal E. E. Edick some of the reasons for the increase may be found. A large number of these students, 29 in all, did not attend the Escanaba public schools. Some of the pupils were working, others did not attend school at all, while 10 students stated that their families had moved to Escanaba. One group had not planned to come back to school this fall and the last group included those whose homes were in Escanaba, but attended school elsewhere last year.

"One significant fact is that the greatest number of these students who have come back are attending the vocational school," commented Mr. Edick. "This shows a definite interest on the part of the youth to learn a trade which will help them in later years."

Despite the increase in attendance in the school system in general, the school census shows a drop.

In 1943 the census was 4040. The following figures and reasons account somewhat for the drop to 3868. A total of 277 children reached the 20 year mark, 406 left town, and five died during the year.

In the school this year, however, there were 274 new students and 242 became five years of age by May 31.

Home Front Problems Are Taking Back Seat

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—The other day a distinguished writer came to the White House with a request for material for an article on the role of the president as commander-in-chief. He proposed to do a documentation of the president's function which, if only because of the inside information it contained, would stir national interest.

To the president's advisors, this was a tempting prospect. Such an article would almost in itself have served as refutation of the Republican charge that the role of commander-in-chief is a political invention calculated to help re-elect F. D. R. to a fourth term.

Eventually, as with almost every decision, the writer's request was put up to the president himself. To make the article stand up, the author had stressed that he would have to have examples of issues which had been settled by the commander-in-chief—issues beyond the scope of the generals and the admirals.

President said "No." There have been numerous such instances in the course of this extraordinary global war, and the president is convinced that history will sustain his interpretation of the vital importance of the commander-in-chief. But the voters in November will not have the benefit of the judgment of history 50 or 60 years from now. Here was a chance to let them know.

Yet the president's final decision was no. As he put it to his press secretary, Stephen Early, his reasoning went something like this:

"No matter what Instance I cite, I should probably offend someone. I might offend certain of our military men, because there has never been perfect unanimity on any important decision; or perhaps, even more serious, I might offend certain of our allies. I can't do it."

In this incident, it seems to me, is partly the explanation of the president's irritability at certain of his recent press conferences. He feels himself a prisoner of circumstances. It is more or less impossible for him to reply to the Republican attack.

An even deeper psychological motive may lie behind the stern, often peevish attitude he has recently shown. Decisions that he took, or at any rate helped to shape, are leading to world-wide victory over enemies that many pessimists only three or four years ago pronounced invincible. Now he must feel it only subconsciously, that he should be above the kind of political attack which belittles the role of commander-in-chief.

Has Made Enemies

What the president apparently forgets is that war or no war, he is in the midst of a bitter political campaign. He forgets that he has made enemies whose hatred is so implacable they would be less inclined to forgive him for success than for failure. For his successes prove them to have been wrong.

Something else enters in here, too, or so it seems to me. The president and the men closest to him have been so completely absorbed in the war that they've been inclined to let problems here at home solve themselves. You frequently hear around the White House this sort of thing: "Oh, that will take care of itself when we win."

It was used to brush aside all sorts of troublesome questions. Unfortunately it hasn't worked out that way. Complications on the home front have increased rather than diminished as the tempo of the war has been stepped up toward victory.

Inevitably, perhaps, the emphasis is still on war. The imminent Roosevelt-Churchill conference will take up issues of paramount importance concerning the treatment of Germany and the shift of the chief war effort to the Pacific. Incidentally, military men make no secret of how carefully they avoid any subject that has even faint political overtones, as many of these problems do.

When he was elected governor in November, 1942, Thomas E. Dewey called for "answering loyalty to the commander-in-chief. If there was a commander-in-chief to whom loyalty was owed in 1942, there is a commander-in-chief today. The politics of the moment cannot wipe out that fact.

Ground Water Levels Drop During August

Lansing—Average ground water levels fell six-tenths of a foot during August in the northern part of the lower peninsula, a record decline for the period and about 50 per cent more than normal. However, August levels were above the 10-year average for the month, having been exceeded in 1942 and 1943 only. They were one and three-tenths feet lower than a year ago, and nine-tenths of a foot higher than the record August low stage of 1936.

The average trend of ground water levels is a slight lowering until September, when fall rains usually provide slight recharge of the underground reservoir.

Inland lake levels fell two-tenths to one-half foot during the month, according to the geological survey division of the conservation department. The average decline was about three-tenths of a foot.

No Fishing Yet On Jewett Preserve

Lansing—Fishermen who want to get onto the lakes on the Jewett preserve in Ogemaw county which the conservation department is buying as a public recreational area are as impatient as small boys the day before Christmas. About 75 fishermen were turned away over Labor Day.

It may be another six weeks at least before the legal formalities of transfer of title are concluded.

Lakes on the 4,200-acre preserve have been fished hardly at all in the last 15 years and the department's fish division expects that catch records will help to answer some questions about what happens to fish when they are left undisturbed.

New Fishing Sites On Streams Marked

Lansing—Direction and entrance signs marking recently-acquired fishing sites on streams in Lake, Osceola, Mason, and Crawford counties are being placed this week by the conservation department. Surveys and marking of boundaries will be completed later.

With The AEF

Kenneth L. Dixon

With the AEF in Southern France, (delayed) (P)—Every day is full of new incidents showing the spirit of the French people toward their liberators—some thing new to the tired doughboys who have been fighting in the Mediterranean theater since Casablanca.

Every town turns out the entire population. They wave, cheer, throw flowers and serve wine—even when the tide of soldiers sweeping through begins to be numbered in thousands. There is no doubting their tears of joy and gratitude.

The soldiers are accustomed to the begging from hungry citizens. These people are hungry, too—but among them begging is discouraged in what few instances it appears. The villagers, instead, offer you their last loaf of bread and smile happily if you accept anything to eat from them.

Without casting unjust aspersions on other lands it can be said you didn't dare leave so much as a field jacket unguarded in the jeep almost anywhere in Italy or North Africa. It just wouldn't be there when you returned.

But in several mountain villages far inland in France we were forced to leave a jeep loaded with hundreds of dollars worth of cameras and typewriters, food, clothes, gear and equipment—sometimes right in the middle of the milling crowds, sometimes in deserted alleys for the night.

Not once was so much as a single cigaret stolen.

Once we asked a Maquis chieftain if our stuff would be safe left unguarded through the night. He quietly said yes. It was. But not until the next day did we find that just to be sure he had passed the word around that anybody caught tampering with our jeep would be shot.

French people, both the fighting Maquis and the unarmed civilians, take any risks to help the troops. They lead the way to gun positions. They draw fire so the Germans are forced to give

Plasma Clinic Gets Record Collection

Escanaba donors established a record for the Upper Peninsula by contributing 356 pints of blood during the five-day blood plasma clinic which closed Friday evening. Examinations during the period totaled 425, but 69 donors were rejected.

Dr. A. B. Mitchell, medical director of the blood plasma program for the state health department, last night expressed his appreciation for the assistance given the mobile unit by local volunteers. A smoothly operating organization for the full five days enabled the clinic to produce to its utmost capacity.

Processing of about ten persons every half hour represented the maximum output of the clinic.

REGISTER FOR A BOOKS SEPT. 15

Motorists Will Go To Nearest School To Renew

Friday, Sept. 15 has been established as the day for registration of all automobile owners for renewal of basic A book gas ration coupons. City and rural schools will, as in the past, cooperate.

In rural schools registrations will be taken from 1 p. m. until 9. In city schools the work probably will not begin until 3 o'clock, and will continue until 9 o'clock.

Teachers of the district will be in charge in their respective schools. It was stated. Motorists are advised to have with them their old A book cover with their signatures inscribed in the proper place.

Car owners will simplify the work and avoid confusion if they will go to the elementary school nearest their homes. Following the registration all applications will be forwarded to a central school for processing. It is expected three days will be required to complete the work which will be done on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 18 to 20. The books will be mailed to reach their respective owners in time for use on Sept. 22.

Gladstone News

Gladstone Girl Is Given Office For Wolverine State

Yvonne Llerman, delegate sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary of Gladstone to the Wolverine Girls' State at Ann Arbor, has been elected to the office of secretary of the South Carolina colony for the fourth annual gathering. The election came in colony caucus, following a general nominating convention on Thursday, August 31.

On arrival at the University of Michigan, the Girl Staters are formed into 12 colonies and Miss Llerman will record her colony's activities in their daily meetings and assist in the colony government.

The Wolverine Girls' State, established by the American Legion Auxiliary, offers a week-long program of recreation and education designed to develop leadership and to give vocational guidance to 220 girls, picked by local schools in Michigan for qualities of leadership and personality.

BLOOD PRESSURE of donor Lucille Farrell (right) of 416 South 18th street is tested by Nurse Joyce Nelson (left) as one preparatory step in the giving of blood at the plasma clinic under way this week at Escanaba Junior high school. Pulse, temperature and case history of each donor also is taken to determine whether they should give blood.

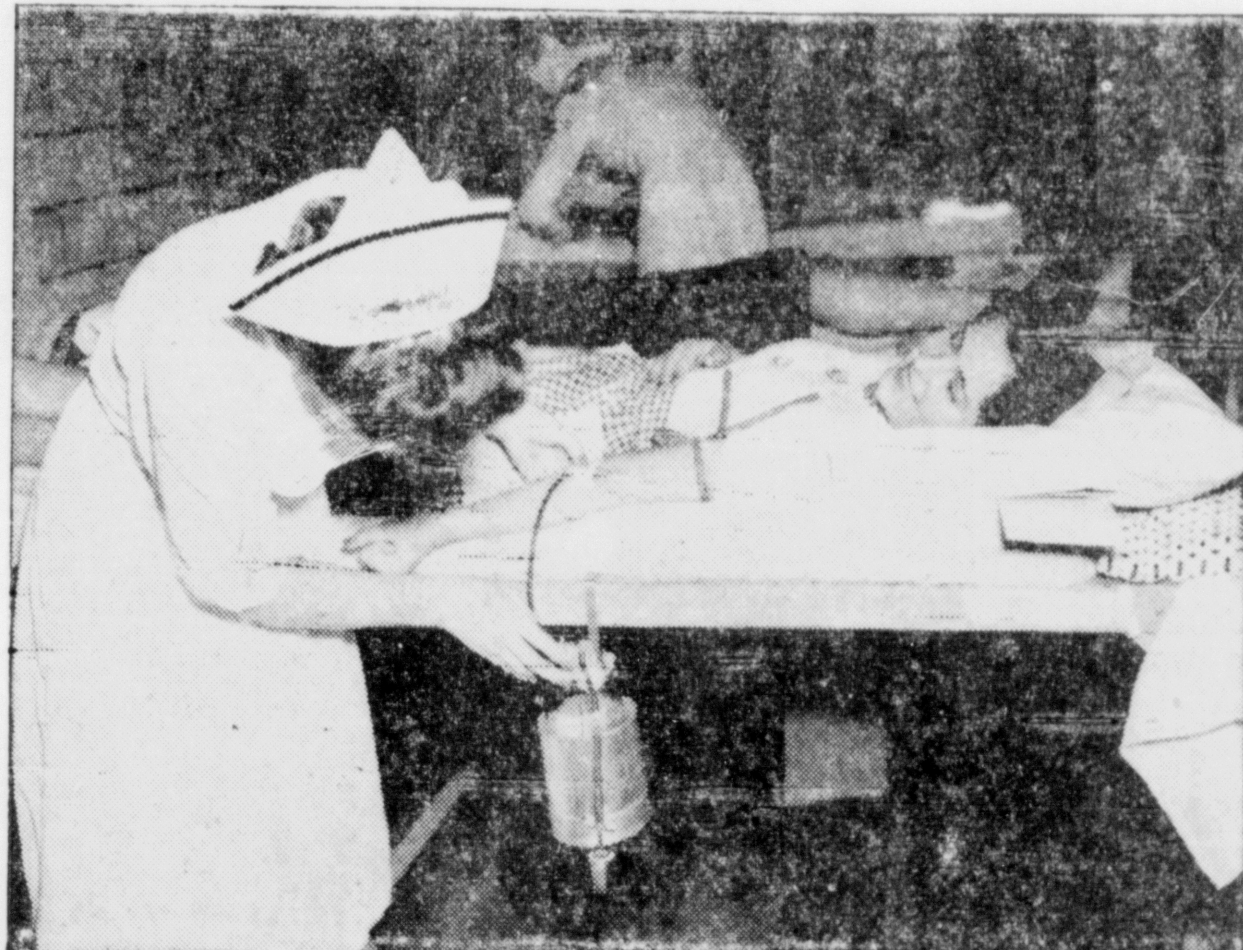

DR. A. B. MITCHELL prepares to inject the needle into the left arm vein of donor William Curtis of 704 South 17th street, who clenches his hand so the vein will stand out. Dr. Mitchell of the Michigan Department of Health heads the staff of the blood plasma mobile unit, operating here under auspices of the Delta County Chapter, American Red Cross.

THE BUSY BLOOD BANK production line runs a little ahead of schedule as more than the required number of donors appear each day. The schedule permits the processing of only about 60 donors each day, but this number has been exceeded in an effort to accept as many as possible. Dr. Mitchell said that altogether more than 300 pints of blood will be collected in the five days the clinic operates here. Opening Monday, the clinic will close Friday. From Escanaba the mobile plasma unit will go to Munising, Manistique and St. Ignace before leaving the Upper Peninsula.

SMILING BETTY DAWE of 324 South 17th street watches Nurse Norma Segula as the blood is drawn into the bottle. Next step to obtain plasma will be to remove the red corpuscles, freeze the remaining liquid, dehydrate it, and then powder it. For use it is mixed with distilled water. Plasma is used for treating persons suffering from hemorrhage, shock, burns—and has saved thousands of lives on battlefields of the world. (Daily Press Photos.)

Great Lakes Are Road To Victory And Plenty

A couple of thousand years ago the Roman conquests were successful because Roman legions were equipped with weapons of metal. They beat back the barbarian hordes that swarmed over the mountains to attack them. But the famous siege of Constantinople, the last of the Roman governments fell to the iron cannons of the Turks.

In the Middle Ages, knights in armor held sway over the land. A little later, the folk who know how to use gunpowder in rifles and field pieces forged from iron took the lead.

Then, when men began to invent productive machines, iron became important for a very different reason.

It was in England that our industrial civilization first blossomed. Way back in 1608, the iron ore mined in Virginia was shipped back to the "mother country."

In 1648 our own first blast furnace at Lynn, Mass., was turning out seven tons of pig iron a week. Pockets of ore were discovered in various states. Forges sprang up. But their output, for the most part, went into pails and kettles, into stoves and horseshoes and simple implements for local consumption.

Then—exactly 160 years ago—a surveyor in the Upper Peninsula found his compass behaving strangely. That incident led to discovery of iron ore in the upper lakes region.

There was plenty of need for that great supply of newly discovered ore. More and more machines were being invented. Iron was literally changing the course of civilization. By this new discovery, our country had a supply of iron ore far greater than had ever been dreamed of before.

But that supply had to be equalled by a source of heat with which to refine it.

Coal, great quantities of it, had been discovered in Pennsylvania. The use of anthracite-fired furnaces was perfected there about 1840. Trouble was, that region had far more coal than it had iron.

Were it not for the fortuitous existence of the Great Lakes, blast furnaces and factories would have continued to grow up gradually at the site of ore deposits, as they did in the early days of the eastern states.

Because the lakes provided low-cost transportation, our country didn't have to wait upon the long, slow, westward shift of population to take advantage of its great deposits of ore. In 1882 the Globe Iron Works, of Cleveland, built the Onoko—the first iron ship on the Great Lakes. That was really the beginning of ore transportation as we know it today. Out of it has sprung the mechanization that has made our present standards of living possible.

Without this bringing together of iron ore and coal, America's network of railroads would not exist. There wouldn't be the production of automobiles. We wouldn't have the steel industry. Nor, in fact, would we have mass production.

Think what it has meant to our way of life in terms of agricultural equipment, petroleum supply, water and electric systems, radios, telephones, automobiles, refrigeration, airplanes—even vacuum cleaners, washing machines—The list is unending.

And need it be pointed out that most of the jobs in our United States of America—which, in turn, make it possible for individuals to enjoy the benefits of this astounding development—are themselves dependent upon iron ore being brought down the lakes to available coal.

For the last four years, the tremendous productivity of our country has been turned toward defending the freedom and the way of life that developed it.

As of old, iron and steel—plus the knowledge of how to use them—make for Victory. As the arsenal of democracy, we are turning out around 90,000,000 tons of steel a year—enough to compensate for Russia's recent drop to 12,000,000 tons.

The ore for all but a seventh of our entire output moves from mines to blast furnaces by way of the Great Lakes. And lake shipping will still be the iron road to plenty for all of us when the world springs back to production for peace.

Bradford Attends Scout Conference

R. L. Thompson, Scout Executive of the Hiawathaland Council and his staff consisting of Paul A. Young, Hiawathaland District Executive, Marquette; Harry Slemmer, Copper Country District Executive Houghton; Charles M. Eaton, Chippewa District Executive, Sault Ste. Marie; and S. N. A Real Loss

THERE'S something missing these days, in the columns of the Escanaba Daily Press and in hundreds of other newspapers of the land. Ernie Pyle, the world's greatest war reporter, after 29 months of service on the front lines of the battle fronts of Europe, through sheer exhaustion, has been forced to relinquish his self appointed task.

Although well beyond the age of America's fighting forces, Pyle has lived with the GI Joe's from Africa to France. He has subjected himself to the sacrifices and the dangers of America's fighting forces, to give the world the most intimate and most human picture of war ever provided for the reading public.

His daily column in more than 400 newspapers of America have become, in fact, a daily letter from the battle lines to the millions of mothers, wives and sweethearts of the boys of America, fighting and dying on foreign fields. The pen of Ernie Pyle has brought the cruelty of war and the valor of America's fighting men closer to the people of the United States than has ever before been accomplished by any war correspondent.

The temporary suspension of his column, while the "old man" takes a desperately needed vacation, leaves a void in the newspapers he served and a real sense of loss to his millions of readers.

It will be hoped by all that he may eventually be able to return to the job he has made for himself, as the buddy and the mouthpiece of the common fighting man of the armies of this nation.

Woods Workers Sought

BEGINNING Sept. 17, the War Manpower Commission will conduct a drive to recruit 3,600 men to work in the woods of the Upper Peninsula in an effort to increase the production of sorely-needed pulpwood and other forest products.

A goodly portion of the requirements will be met by the assignment of 1,000 additional prisoners of war in four or five abandoned CCC camps, augmenting the 600 who are already at work in the Upper Peninsula. While the prisoners of war do not produce like free American labor, the results of their efforts are definitely helpful.

Most substantial relief of the manpower shortage problem is expected to come from the recruitment of farmers and other seasonal workers. After the crops were in last fall, many Upper Peninsula farmers went into the wood to cut pulpwood, chemical wood and other stuff and helped materially in increasing production.

Since January 1, there has been a two per cent drop in woods employment monthly in the Upper Peninsula, and similar declines are noted in other timber producing regions. Forest products are among the most critical war materials at the present time. Reserve stocks of lumber have declined more than 10 billion feet since 1941, and the pulpwood inventory is down from four million to one and three-quarter million cords.

Upper Peninsula farmers responded in a patriotic manner to the appeal to devote their leisure time to woods work last winter. Incidentally, they also found it to be highly profitable.

Tough Customers

NEWS of the mutiny in an Australian camp in which more than 200 Japanese prisoners of war were killed and about a hundred wounded is an omen of some of the difficulties that lie ahead for the Allies before the final victory over Japan is achieved.

Smashing of Japanese military might will be comparatively easy after the Americans, British and other allies marshal their forces for the all-out assault after the defeat of Germany. With our many long-range bombing planes we shall be able to pulverize Japanese industries and shipping, but when we assume the task of occupying their homeland we are likely to experience the same kind of bitter resistance that the Nazis found to their regret in Czechoslovakia, Norway and other countries.

The Japanese people have been long imbued with the idea that they live and die for their emperor, whom they revere as a divine being. In their fanaticism, death means nothing to them except the greatest glory.

Absentee Voting

THE Bulletin of the Lake Carriers' association calls attention to the fact that seamen in all states, bordering the Great Lakes, except Pennsylvania, may use the absentee voters ballot to vote in the Nov. 7 national election.

Seamen are advised in making application to clearly state they are employed on the lakes and expect to be aboard their vessels on election day. This will help to avoid confusion with the soldier vote law, it is explained.

Seamen whose residence is in a large city are advised to send their applications for absentee ballots to the board of elections or city clerk. If they are in doubt about this, they may mail them directly to the county clerk.

County Clerk Ohlen reports receiving 700 applications for ballots already from Delta county members of the armed forces. The indications are that the service men are more interested in the coming election than first believed. So many civilians do not bother to vote even though they do not have the inconvenience of applying for and returning absentee voters ballots. Quite likely, those in the armed forces have a different slant on the responsibilities and privileges of citizenship.

Fall Fire Hazards

AS BIRD hunting season approaches, the general public should be warned that fire hazards in the woods of the Upper Peninsula will extend until late in the fall. This year the danger of fire is greater than normal, because of the manpower shortage. Forest protection agencies have lost many of their trained workers and no longer can count on large numbers of men in emergencies.

Nine out of ten forest fires are man made and are therefore preventable. Such fires do irreparable damage to the war effort. They destroy natural resources that only time can replace. Where standing timber has been wiped out, this means hundreds of years.

Next month, hunters will be traveling in considerable numbers through the woods. Now is the time for them to make up their mind that they will be careful not to start fires. Every cigarette butt should be completely extinguished. Extreme caution should govern the use of matches. Let's keep the Upper Peninsula green.

FRENCH RE-BIRTH

(Christian Science Monitor)

Reports from France tell of the forming of a Provisional Government under de Gaulle leadership. A glance at the list of men in the most prominent positions discloses some very familiar names, and some not so familiar. But the statement that leaders of the resistance movement in France are being taken into this Government under the aliases they used in underground work is a clear portent that France is emerging with a revitalized leadership.

The quality of this may be decisively affected by men whose political development is free from the old corrupting influences which pervaded the declining Third Republic. Here is the right remedy for the ills which afflicted France. It is the only one acceptable to the freedom-loving French. They do not now lift a finger or voice a protest at the eclipse of Petainism, which would have tried to rid France of one set of evils by turning back the clock to times which bred even greater evils.

The rise of France could not come from the efforts of a few paternalistic and authoritarian groups to impose their concept of virtue from the top. It had to come from that wellspring of French life, the people.

We're for the horn of plenty but strictly opposed to the horn of too much—that sax next door.

HANDBOOK OF PRACTICAL ENGLISH
Q. Will you please distinguish between principal and principle?

A. Principal (adj.) means "of highest rank or authority." The noun means "leader; chief; one with highest authority," as, the principal of a school. The noun also means "money placed at interest."

Principle means, "a fundamental truth; a governing law of conduct or action." As a reminder that principal usually designates a person (which principle never does), use the memory phrase: The principal is my pal.

No runs; no hits; four errors. I have observed before that song writers' English is something to marvel at. But the song, "Silver Wings in the Sky," establishes an all-time low in illiteracy. In the chorus alone there are four gross errors:

1. "He loves both you and I." Eliminate "both you and . . ." This gives us the beautiful: "He loves . . . I." Correct: He loves both you and me.

2. "If you love him like I do." It is dialectal to use "like" for "as; as if; as though." Correct: If you love him as I do.

3. "Keep him safely." Safely is equivalent to saying "See that he is safely," which is nonsense. Correct: Keep him safe.

4. "Bring him homeward again." Homeward means "in the direction of home." Why not bring the poor fellow all the way? Correct: Bring him home again.

VERSAILLES, city near outskirts of Paris, and scene of the June, 1919, treaty with Germany. The name ends with a barely audible "yuh" vanish. Say: vair-SAH-yuh.

SAINT-DENIS, manufacturing city north of Paris. The "d" of "Denis" is obscured; the "s" is silent. Say: sa(n) duh-NEE.

World War In The Air

BY MAJOR A. P. de SEVERSKY

The appointment of Lieut. General Milard F. Harmon as Commander of the Army Air Forces in Pacific Ocean areas is a matter of satisfaction to American airmen familiar with his record. They regard it as a guarantee that the most effective possible use will be made of available aerial strength.

General Harmon displayed conspicuous knowledge and insight before the war in estimating the coming air conflict. He served on several Army Air Force Procurement Boards which fought hard for maximum performance in our airplanes in such combat essentials as firepower, range and rate of climb, etc.

Unhappily, Washington at the time was tangled in red tape and inter-departmental politics. The able decisions of men like General Harmon were overruled by men lacking the vision of events ahead. Had it not been for this misfortune, we would have entered the war at the top of the list—instead of the bottom—with respect to the military characteristics of our planes, and the precious lives of our airmen would not have been needlessly sacrificed.

—MUST STILL BEAT JAPAN—

At a time when the war in Europe is being brought to a victorious conclusion, this may sound like unnecessary harping, but we still have to beat Japan. As in the case of our war with Germany, our air forces must destroy Japanese air power before any success can be expected in surface operations.

Yet the legacy of mistakes is still with us, as is evident from the statements made by General Harmon in a press interview on August 31. He told the newsman that aerial action would be intensified, with 1,000-plane bombing assaults on Japan probable. But he touched on some of the difficulties he faces:

(1) We must acquire "large land bases within 500 or 600 miles of Japan" to make the offensive effective.

(2) In the early stages of our program we may have to bomb without benefit of fighter escort.

(3) The attempt will be made to provide such escort by aircraft carriers—if they are not needed elsewhere and if they will not be dangerously exposed.

All these difficulties, it should be noted, are the direct consequence of failure to heed warnings and recommendations by men like General Harmon.

As the American people become more familiar with the basic principles of air power, they will join air experts in asking for an explanation in regard to General Harmon's first point. They will want to know why, after five years of this World War, our air power still works under such primitive handicaps? Why must we fight and die for bases 500 or 600 miles from Japan, when for so many years aviation engineering has been able to provide planes to operate from bases already in our hands, and clamoring for the right to build them?

The people will want to know, and they have a right to a direct answer, why we have been so generous in expending American lives to take Jap atolls, but so niggardly with our slide rules on the drafting boards. Mere enlargement of the scale of designing in 1939-1941 would have obviated this need to bring our air power so close to the enemy targets.

—LACK ESCORT AVIATION—

The same sort of question must reasonably be raised in connection with the escort problem. Why are we without proper escort aviation after three years of our war and five years of the European war? Aviation strategists long before the conflict foresaw the need for escorts, but their views were ridiculed or ignored higher up.

Since then it has become clear that the fighter escort is an indispensable weapon. It was a makeshift escort fighter, converted from a single-seater interceptor plane, that saved our bombing force from disaster in Germany and turned what seemed to be a looming defeat into a brilliant victory. It enabled us to soften up Germany for the invasion and may rightly be credited with winning the war for us. How is it that we failed to develop this indispensable shield for bombers, and must now approach Japan under that serious handicap?

It borders on the incredible that after all the experience of the present war we still have to squander the lives of our airmen to make up for elementary failures to understand and anticipate air power needs. The aeronautical engineers and designers of our country could readily have coped with the problems if they had received the proper military direction.

As to the third point made in General Harmon's interview with the press, it is to be hoped that during the critical phase of our aerial operations, aircraft carriers, if they are needed and usable, will be available. Our command of the Pacific areas should be so organized as to prevent carriers being "needed elsewhere" during a decisive air offensive. If they cannot be used because they are "dangerously exposed," then they are not weapons of war at all but an extravagant type of national make-believe.

The sooner our deficiencies in equipment and organizational setup are remedied, the smaller will be our investment in American life in knocking out Japan.

On the banks of the Seine. Caution. The French diagraph "eu" is never pronounced "er." It has a sound somewhat similar to the "u" of "turn," but without any trace of "i" whatever. In Elbeuf the "eu" has a sound that is between the "ih" of "but" and the "oo" of "book." Say: el-BUF.

The Master Mind at Work Again

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

ON THE WANE — The nip of frost in the night air, an occasional flame of maple leaves along the roadside, the crackle of drying bracken in the woodlands — these tell of summer's end and the beginning of autumn.

Flocks of birds turn and wheel in restless flight, testing their formations for the long journey southward. In city and country the children return to school, heeding the call of the bell whose clang sounds loud and sharp in the clear air of morning.

The sportsman thinks of grouse and prairie chicken shooting on the uplands while he cleans his shotgun and reassures his dog of a place in the hunting scene. Gardeners keep a weather eye out for signs of a killing frost and hesitate whether to pick the tomatoes or take a chance for another chilly night.

Summer is one the wane and the crisp days of autumn are at hand. Fringed gentians bloom daily along the Garden Peninsula shore, and everywhere the golden-rod nods saffron plumes in field and fenow. Purple asters make bright spots of color among the somber pines, while in the orchards of the county apples drop almost soundlessly into the grass beneath the trees.

THE BUSY DAYS — Kitchens are busy places these days in town and country. Housewives convert the fruits of summer into food for winter, and steaming kettles fill the house with sweet odors—essence of the ripe goodness of harvesttime.

Tomatoes ripen on window ledges, apple parings lend their bright skin to bring a pink glow to apple jelly, and in the basement the fruit shelves begin to sag beneath the accumulating richness in the cans. Here is the housewife's treasure, gleaming behind curving glass, sealed with a shining cover—altogether a proud display of her work and art.

The man of the house feels the call to do those little jobs he has put off all summer. There is an urgency in the air that demands action with putty knife and paint, with storm door hinges, and backyard woodpile.

On the farms of the county the potato harvest looms as the next challenge of the season. Butcher's work will follow, and then will come the long winter days, when routine chores will be interrupted only by the thousands of little jobs the farmer does in preparation for another growing season.

ADJUSTMENT PERIOD — Autumn is an adjustment period. The children find that school is not the hater thing they thought it would be. They find satisfaction in the routine that school days bring—and discover that teacher is a reasonable and friendly individual and not the ogre their pal-to-pal vacation conferences had made her out to be.

The family that has been fortunate enough to spend the summer at cottage or camp along the shore is picking up the threads of urban life again. In their hearts they hold the memory of sunny days and moonlit nights—but they welcome the warmth of household fires in town, and the comfort and convenience of the city once the chill of autumn cracks the whip.

Everywhere there comes a new appreciation of the place we call home. The four stout walls keep out the buffeting wind, and the sound of cold rain falling on the roof brings deepened sense of comfort and well-being—and a feeling that here in this home is safety for the elephants and the kernel of all that men and women have defended through the ages.

AND THE CALL — Yet for all the snugness of the home, there comes to the young in spirit at this season the call to migrate. There is a feeling of anticipation. The hurrying wind is a challenge and the road is long and open.

There is restlessness and change. Excitement paints the distant hills with color, and the wheeling birds stir the urge to follow where they lead. It is the Gypsy call.

To many the call is strong and will be answered as best they can. There will be those who, with gun and dog, will tramp the fields and hills, following the outland trails. They will watch the fast-moving clouds painting changing patterns of shadow on the farther hills, hear the whirr of wings and the clear barking of dogs at the hidden farmstead, smell the disturbing richness of nature touched by the deathly finger of frost.

In the cities the call will bring out those both young and old who, warmly dressed, will walk briskly in the rain and wind with faces raised and flushed with more than exercise. They will enjoy the adventure of a lonely street, shared only by others of their kind who like the sight of lights reflected on wet pavement, the smell of wood and coal smoke in the air, and the silent falling of a colored leaf.

To such as these autumn is a joyous time, exciting prelude to the solid living of the coming winter.

The Lyons Den

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK—"Cap" Krug, the new head of the War Production Board, is working on a reconversion plan which will be as comprehensive as the Baruch-Hancock report. . . . Krug will appear before the Truman Committee, at his own request. . . . The biggest manhunt in years now is being waged to find the six killers involved by "The Hawk" in Brooklyn's new murder ring. The whole country is being scoured. Arrests will result in the solution to at least 10 murders. . . . Joe Williams, the sports writer, is expected to succeed Westbrook Pegler as the Scripps-Howard columnist. Williams' sports column will be taken over by Dan Daniels.

HENRY LUCE went to London at the special request of the British government. . . . Sears, Roebuck & Co. is planning to spread its bounds throughout the continent. Mexico will be the first country invaded by the mail order house. One of its agents now is in Mexico City, making the preparations.

ON SEPT. 15 THE Truman Committee will make a ten-day trip by plane, visiting all the Army and Navy Surplus Property depots. . . . "Looney" Lewis, the burlesque comic who left "One Touch of Venus" to take J. Edw. Brodberg's role in "Jacobowsky and the Colonel," has changed his name to Loney Lewis. "For the Theatre Guild," he explains, "I've taken one 'o' out of 'Looney' and added it to my salary."

GEORGE JESSEL, ever zealous in his promotion of Zanuck's "Wilson," now adds this P. S. to all his telegrams here: "If the operator telephones this wire to 'Wilson' at the Ritz. . . . Remember my routine about how to buy a house in Hollywood?" Jessel now laments, "About watching the gossip-columns, and when you read of a couple splitting up angrily, each swearing that they never want to see their house again and anxious to get rid of it at any price, and how you sometimes can buy such a house for $87. We'll," sighs the recently divorced producer-comer, "I just sold my house that way."

PAUL DRAPER will appear at the Opera in Rio de Janeiro with the Brazilian Ballet supporting him. . . . Harry Pileer, the former dancer who made his career in the opera in Hollywood now trying to sell to the studios the story of his wife, the late Gaby Delors. A noted New Yorker, now a Colonel, was ordered back to London from Paris for shooting a pistol from a window in Paris. . . . Before young Pat Hitchcock, his father, Alfred Hitchcock, worried about the necessity for continuing Pat's schooling here. . . . Don't worry. Tallulah Bankhead reassured them, "I still don't know geometry—and look at me."

THREE GIRLS sat in Lindy's. The first ordered a chicken sandwich, "white meat." "Do you think white meat really is tasty?" said the waiter. "Tongue is tasty." "All right. Make it tongue." "On white bread?" "White bread. Hmph," said the waiter. "Rye is with vitamins." "Make it tongue on rye then," said the lady. . . . "I'll have toasted Danish pastry," said the second. . . . "Why toasted?" asked the waiter. "Our Danish is fresh from the oven. It's still warm. You want us to put it back in the oven? Danish bread you toast, but not fresh Danish." "Okay," she agreed. "I'll have coffee too." . . . "Coffee?" repeated the waiter. "So you don't want to sleep tonight?" . . . "Make it milk," the second lady acceded. . . . The third, somewhat timid, asked the waiter: "What do you suggest for me?" . . . "I should suggest?" he replied. "Who's got time for suggestions?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington—It is not often that the Secretary of State has to extend his personal apologies for failure to invite someone to lunch. However, that was what Secretary Hull did in person last week, when he crossed the street to Blair House, and, while saying goodbye to President-elect

Grau San Martin of Cuba, apologized for having failed to invite his Minister of Public Works, Senator Gustavo Moreno, to a White House lunch. The President's 15-year-old grandson, Curtis Dall, Jr., was a guest at the luncheon from which Gustavo Moreno was barred. Not since the Dolly Gann-Alice Longworth social feud as to who should sit where at dinner, has anything so ruffled Washington diplomats.

Blame for the social error has been taken by forthright Chief of Protocol George Summerlin, who for years has efficiently handled the not easy task of making sure that visiting potentates are properly entertained. Actually, a State Department underling made the initial error, but Summerlin says that he should have reversed him.

About an hour before the White House luncheon, U. S. Ambassador to Cuba Spruille Braden telephoned the State Department to point out that Senator Gustavo Moreno had been left off the guest list.

"He is one of the most important figures in Cuba," Ambassador Braden urged. "He will be the next Minister of Public Works."

"The seating has all been arranged," was the State Department's reply. "Pa' Watson would never stand for a change at the last minute." (General "Pa' Watson, military aide to FDR, is the beagle-eyed watchdog over everything in the White House these days.)

So the new Minister of Public Works was left out. Next day he was so irked that, when the guests were about to sit down at the state dinner given by Cordell Hull for President-elect Grau San Martin, one place was vacant. Senator Gustavo Moreno would not come.

So next day Mr. Hull called on the President-elect and his new Minister of Public Works to extend his apologies.

NOTE—In 1944, eleven years after he was first made President of Cuba by a revolt, Dr. Grau now is to be inaugurated again. During the first year of the Roosevelt Administration, the United States forced President Machado out, but did not expect Grau to come in. When Grau jumped the gun and took office by revolution, he was not permitted to stay there. Now, after eleven years of patient waiting, he will be inaugurated October 1.

—BUNGLED GOP SPEECHES—

GOP Congressmen are boiling mad at Republican headquarters in New York for bungling recent GOP speeches. They have sent some friendly but pointed advice to Herbert Brownell and Governor Dewey to revise their speech-writing procedure, get some new ghostwriters or something.

Four different speeches have now been released to the press by Dewey's headquarters in New York before they were read and revised by the men who were to deliver them. The speeches were those of Governors Warren of California, Baldwin of Connecticut, Green of Illinois, and Rep. Dirksen of Illinois.

Republican Congressmen have sent word to Dewey that, for years, they have been harping on one-man dictatorship in the White House, and they don't want this turned round and used against them. Mr. Brownell's headquarters, they say privately, has now played right into the hands of the Democrats, who can claim that Dewey doesn't even want the Governors of States to write their own speeches.

Governor Warren, who frankly admitted he could not explain why Dewey headquarters in New York released his speech without even giving him time to read it, later toned down considerably the proposed blast in it against Sidney Hillman and the CIO. The other Governors also did some toning down of their speeches.

No explanation was given, but in California Warren ran for Governor on the Democratic ticket as well as the Republican and had considerable CIO support. Also, it has now developed that Sidney Hillman contributed $5,000 to Dewey's election as District Attorney in New York in 1937, while in Massachusetts, Governor Saltonstall gladly accepted CIO support in 1942.

Fair-minded Rep. Everett Dirksen of Illinois got up on the floor of Congress to correct published accounts of a speech he made at Old Orchard, Maine, criticizing the President for using the Navy for campaign purposes. He explained that the speech was given to the press in an "incorrect" form. In other words, he also got a prepared speech from Dewey headquarters which he refused to deliver in its original form.

Gilbert L. Pomeroy, 17, Ensign, Mich., is receiving his initial indoctrination at the U. S. naval training center, Great Lakes, Ill.

His recruit training consists of instruction in seamanship, military drill, and general naval procedure. During this period a series of aptitude tests will be taken by him to determine whether he will be assigned to a naval service school or to immediate duty at sea.

When his recruit training is completed, the seaman will receive a period of leave.

Moses Lake, Wash., skipping the grade of private first class, Pvt. Fred J. Larson, husband of Mrs. Mary H. Larson, 215 South Sixth street, Escanaba, now stationed at Moses Lake army airfield near here, has been promoted to the rank of corporal.

A college graduate with a bachelor of science degree, Corporal Larson was employed as an accountant for the Duncan Lumber company, Lansing, before being inducted into the service March 21 of this year. He is now working in the finance department here.

Before being transferred to this Fourth air force fighter pilot training base on June 12, he was stationed in California.

Rudy P. Paquet, son of Mrs. Lucy Paquet, 1036 Sheridan road, who is stationed in the European theater, has been promoted from the rank of corporal to sergeant, according to information received from the public relations section of the army.

Pvt. Raymond W. Meyers has been transferred to a personnel replacement depot at Camp Beale, Calif., according to information received here. He previously was stationed at Camp Gordon Johnston, Fla.

Pvt. David Williams, son of Nelson Williams, Cornell, is home on furlough from Camp Robinson, Ark. He will leave again Sept. 17 for a new assignment at Camp Shelby, Miss. Williams has been in the service since Jan. 24, 1944.

By direction of the president a bronze star medal has been awarded by the commander general to Major Clarence E. Short of Detroit, son-in-law of Judge and Mrs. William J. Miller. The citation reads:

"Major (then Captain) Clarence E. Short, Infantry, United States Army. For meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy from March 6, 1944 to May 20, 1944, Major Short was a combat team plans and training officer during the planning and execution of the amphibious landings on the beachhead at the assault on the Airdrome. Through-out the planning phase which culminated in the preparation and editing of a voluminous field order, he exhibited initiative and organizing ability of the highest order. During the landing and the succeeding attack against the Airdrome, Major Short's skill and speed in working out the details of the constantly changing plans which were formulated to cope with the rapid advance to the airfield contributed immeasurably to the success of the operation."

Major Short's home address is 1714 Riverway Drive, Lakewood, Ohio. His wife is the former Elizabeth Miller, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Miller.

FREED FROM PRISON

Iron Mountain—Second Lieut. Dana Vane Varvill, 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Varvill, 216 Superior street, East Kingsford, was among the thousand American aviators freed by the advancing Russians from Romanian prison camps and evacuated to Italy. It is announced by the Associated Press in a dispatch from Rome.

Lieut. Varvill was reported missing in action over Romania on April 24 and on June 6 last, his parents were told by the War Department that he was a prisoner of the Romanians. He was first pilot of an American bomber based in Italy, and which was lost in a raid on Romanian soil.

KILLED IN ACTION

Houghton—Mrs. Jack L. Rogers, of 404 Baraga avenue Houghton, has been notified by the War Department that her husband, Capt. Jack L. Rogers, U. S. Engineers, was killed in action on June 18 in France. He was a member of the 101st Airborne Engineers Paratroop division.

Capt. Rogers, whose home was in Stambaugh, was graduated from the Stambaugh high school in 1936 and the Michigan College of Mining and Technology in 1940 received a BS degree in Electrical Engineering. He was a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and upon graduation was commissioned a lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers Reserves. He entered the Army in September 1940 and went overseas in September 1943.

Home Over Overseas

Marquette—"We were all lined up on the beaches and hills cheering and watching the battle. It was like a big football game," said M. Sgt. T. R. Johnston, son of Mrs. Kate Stewart Johnston, 307 East Hewitt avenue, a veteran of Pearl Harbor and 43 months' overseas duty. In describing the June 16, 1943, air battle over Guadalcanal in which American airmen shot down over 90 Jap raiders.

M. Sgt. Johnston, who landed on Guadalcanal with an advance echelon of Group Intelligence in December, 1942, entered the army in October, 1940. After completing training at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., he was transferred to Hawaii and assigned to duty as operations clerk with the Army Air Corps at Hickam Field, December 11, 1940.

U. P. Postmen Elect

Negaunee—Painter Harris, Negaunee, who has been active in the affairs of the association of letter carriers, was named president of the district association at its meeting, held here this week. Other officers are: Ed LaCost, Iron Mountain, vice president; Steven Johnson, Marquette, secretary; and William Trengbom, Ishpeming, treasurer. Members of the executive board are Charles Sherlock, Escanaba; Walter Rowe, Ishpeming; and Philip Parks, Newberry.

New Tax Form for 30,000,000 Americans

Form W-2 (Rev. 1-44)		WITHHOLDING RECEIPT—1944		ORIGINAL
U. S. Treasury Department Internal Revenue Service		For Income Tax Withheld on Wages
EMPLOYER BY WHOM PAID (Name and address)
Victory Machine Company 22 Maple Lane Success, Ind.
Total Wages paid during the calendar year 1944		Federal Income Tax withheld
$3635		$405.60
EMPLOYEE TO WHOM PAID (Print full name, address, Social Security No.)
John J. Jones 14 Elm Drive Success, Ind. 999-09-9999
To EMPLOYEE: Change name and address if not correctly shown
BY S. BURTON HEATH NEA Staff Writer
About thirty million Americans will be able to use this short form as their only income tax return under the new "simplified" law.
Unless your 1944 income—or your and your wife's combined—is greater than $4,999.99, or unless you received more than $100 from sources not subject to the withholding tax, all you will have to do next March is file this dinky little report.
If you use this form the Treasury Department will compute the amount of tax you owe, from a table provided in the law, and will send you either a bill for the balance due or a refund if you have overpaid.
In figuring your tax the Government will assume that all legal deductions and credits, aside from the personal credit at $500 each for your self, your wife and your dependents, aggregate about 10 per cent of your total income.
If you believe that you paid out more than 10 per cent of your total income for charity, interest, taxes, casualty losses, allowable medical expenses, etc., you do not have to use this form and take the tax loss it would involve.
You have the right to use form 1040, which should be considerably simpler this year than it was last year, and figure the tax you owe down to the last penny.
And if your income is as much as $5,000, or if your income from untaxed wages, interest, dividends or miscellaneous sources is more than $1000, you are required to use form 1040. You cannot use the one shown above.
Incidentally, somebody might ask Congress why a $5,000-a-year man has been made to ask his employer to reduce his salary to $4,999.99 if he wants to use this form.
Was your income $500 or more? If so, you must file an income tax return either on a Withholding Receipt or on Form 1040.
Was your income under $500? If so, file a return to get a refund of tax withheld.
A married couple should file a combined return to get full benefit of exemptions.
Deductions: If you file your return on a Withholding Receipt, the Government will figure your tax from a table provided by law, which allows about 10% of your total income for charitable contributions, interest, taxes, casualty losses, medical expenses, and miscellaneous items. In order to claim deductions of more than 10%, you must file your return on Form 1040.
To file a Withholding Receipt as your return, fill out both sides of the ORIGINAL, sign, and mail to Collector of Internal Revenue, your district, between Jan. 1 and Mar. 15, 1945. Keep the duplicate.
If you got more than one receipt for income tax withheld during 1944 (Form W-2 or Form W-2, Rev.), fill out and sign the last one received and attach the others to it. If filing a combined return, attach receipts of both husband and wife. If any receipt is missing and you cannot obtain a copy from your employer, make your return on Form 1040. Write here the total number of receipts you file, including the one used as your return.
Make no payment now, but wait for bill or refund from Collector.
I declare under the penalties of perjury that the foregoing statements are true to the best of my knowledge and belief, and that ALL MY 1944 INCOME IS REPORTED HEREON.
Signature John J. Jones		Date 3/2/45 (Date)

Milkweed Floss Harvest To Start Soon In County

Late this month the picking of milkweed floss will start in Delta and other counties of the Upper Peninsula in a program to utilize the floss as buoyant filling for lifejackets to supply the wartime demand of the army and navy.

Jerry Marsieck of Escanaba is supervisor in charge of the milkweed floss gathering program in 13 Upper Peninsula counties, including Delta, Chippewa and Mackinac counties, said to be the two largest producers of the floss, are under separate supervision.

Marsieck is now making a pre-harvest survey of the counties to determine where the milkweed plants grow in quantities. Where these places occur there will be gathering and buying stations established.

In Delta county it is proposed to set up buying stations in each of the townships. These will be located largely at schools, and to these stations the children will bring the bags of pods. The program is receiving the cooperation of county school officials.

C. P. Thrus, Delta county school commissioner, said yesterday that last year there were but seven sacks of floss shipped from the county.

This year the story is expected to be different because of organized program to encourage harvesting. There has been a deposit made at an Escanaba bank on which to draw to pay children or others who bring in sacks of pods.

The pods will be picked in small sacks, bushel capacity, and 15 cents will be paid for each bag.

Twenty cents will be paid for the dried pods. Pickers will be urged to dry the pods, not only to obtain the higher pay, but because when dried the pods are easier to handle and store.

The sacks of pods may be dried by hanging them on a fence from 10 days to three weeks.

Children who help with the harvest will be paid for the sacks of pods as they bring them to the buying stations. They will not have to wait for their money, but will receive it immediately.

Marsieck will make a tour of the schools soon to fully inform children and teachers on harvesting and handling methods.

Milkweed floss is needed in large quantities by the Navy Department, Bureau of Ships, to provide lifejackets for navy men and aviators in carrying on their work in the war. The floss replaces kapok, whose source in the South Pacific area now held by the Japs. Milkweed floss is said to be the equal of kapok in providing buoyancy in lifejackets.

North Side Youth Has Victory Plums

The trend of things to come is predicted again by nature, this time in the form of two plums which grew together to form the victory symbol. The fruit was displayed at the Press office Thursday by Billy Courneene, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Courneene, 1031 Stephenson avenue. The plums, joined together at the blossom end, had grown into the shape of an unmistakable letter V.

Nahma

P. T. A. Meeting

Nahma—The F. W. Good Parent-Teacher Association will hold its first meeting of the school year on Tuesday evening, Sept. 12, at the school.

An executive committee meeting was held Thursday, Sept. 7, to make plans for the year. Mrs. Stan Atkins was appointed to fill the office of secretary as Miss Jaeger, who was elected, did not return this year.

Mrs. Al Hewcott, health committee chairman, announced that the clinic for pre-school children will open on Sept. 13. Co-workers with Mrs. Hewcott are Mrs. Joe Sefcik and Mrs. Herbert Blowers.

It was decided that the unit will sponsor the Boy Scout organization if it will have leadership.

Mrs. Victor Thibault will be co-worker with Mrs. Andrew Hendrickson, who is hospitality chairman.

The social hour will follow the business meeting the same as in past years. The dues will be the same also; the fee to be paid by members who are on committee remains the same. If there are changes to be made it will be taken up at the meeting on Tuesday night.

Mrs. Howard Olmsted, newly elected president, is resigning. A new president will be elected at the meeting.

All parents and friends are invited to attend. The meeting should get underway as soon as possible so there will be more time for the social hour.

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Victor Thibault, chairman, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. Andrew Hendrickson, Mrs. Frank Sefcik, Mrs. Clayton Douville, Mr. Lloyd Camps, Mrs. Al Hewcott and Mrs. Robert Schwartz.

Joint Meet

Eight candidates were inducted into the Lions clubs of Escanaba and Gladstone at a joint meeting held here Thursday night at the Yacht club.

The gathering also marked the 7th anniversary of the local club. From Escanaba were Cotton Leonard, Mike Walsh, Herb Flath, Norman Hanson and C. E. Goethe while from Gladstone were Clarence and Mike Goodman and H. J. Henriksen. The last named has been a member of the Gladstone club for several months but had never been formally inducted.

Art Goulaie also conducted the ritualistic portion of the initiation and he was assisted in that and the humorous portion which followed by Ross Gamble, Harry Ehnerd, John Boyle, Ernest Peterson, Bevier Butts and Bruce Brackett of Escanaba. James Frenn was in charge of the program.

The humorous portion of the initiation consisted of a takeoff on the "Truth or Consequences" show and was reported to have been very funny.

Mr. Goulaie also told of plans for a Ladies' Night program for clubs from the entire Upper Peninsula on Monday, Sept. 18 upon the occasion of the Escanaba club's tenth anniversary and to honor International Director Ralph Sheahan.

Lions Bakum, Williams, Korpala and Foubert of the Munising club dropped in after attending a meeting at Rapid River at which they carried home the attendance plaque.

About 30 members of the Escanaba club were present.

Gladstone Shipped Much
Grain In Earlier Years

"The territory tributary to the Great Lakes is the most important grain producing district in the world. It includes most of the surplus grain producing states of this country and nearly all the grain territory of Canada."

That's the United States Army Corps of Engineers talking. Its report, released back in 1937 before war restrictions bogged it down, shows that this area, including the 16 states adjacent to the lakes, plus Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, produced 31.7 per cent of the world's grain—about 90 per cent of which is moved by way of the lakes for the simple reason that it costs less than any other form of transportation.

The total figure was exclusive of the Russian and Chinese yield—a fact which adds tremendously to the present critical importance of the crop in the Great Lakes area.

Production in the Ukraine has been moved down and rolled under by repeated traverse of the machines of war. China's output has been sopped up by the blood-spilling Japs. Even these two of our Allies, with their multitudinous population, now depend even more heavily upon United States granaries.

We Feed Millions

Add to this the fact that we must feed ourselves and the millions of our armed men moved overseas; give sustenance to the liberated peoples in the wake of our invasions of France, of Italy, of North Africa and at the same time, maintain the greatest navy and merchant marine afloat.

It doesn't take much imagination to recognize in that size of the grain carrying job of the lake fleet this year. It explains why the spring and early summer shipments from April 5 to August 1, this season, have set an all-time record that totals nearly twice the amount for the corresponding period of 1942 and exceeds by a wide margin the previous spring and summer record grain shipment in 1941. That year, between April 8 and August 1, 181,427,188 bushels were delivered by lake routes, as compared with 263,059,961 bushels from April 5 to August 1, this season.

Ordinarily the opening of navigation finds the Fort William-Port Arthur elevators crammed to capacity and a heavy quantity in storage at Duluth-Superior. But after the spring rush, with the down-lake movement hitting its peak within the first month, grain traffic subsides until July. Along about that time the first movements of winter wheat reach Chicago and Milwaukee.

Loaded at Gladstone And in what shippers liked to term the "good old days of the grain trade on Lake Michigan," vessels were loaded from elevators at no less than six of its ports—Chicago, South Chicago, Milwaukee, kee, Manitowoc, Green Bay and Gladstone.

From them, millions of bushels of wheat and more millions of bushels of corn used to feed into the down-lake traffic. But the crest of the outflowing Lake Michigan grain tide was reached in 1921, when cargoes totaling 160,643,930 bushels moved eastward through the Straits of Mackinac.

Now the direction of flow has been largely reversed, with the two main ports of Lake Michigan receiving, to August 1 of this year, some 26,000,000 bushels (most of it wheat) from Duluth and Fort William and shipping out only eight cargoes, of which close to a million bushels was corn.

Late in the month of August, wheat from Minnesota and the Dakotas begins arriving at Duluth-Superior, and in September the tremendous flow from Canada's prairie provinces focuses on Fort William-Port Arthur.

From then on until the close of navigation, yields of winter and spring sowings from the American grain belt customarily crowd the lower lake elevators, with the heaviest movement arriving at Buffalo some time in November.

Blood Donors Are Still Needed Here

Only 32 persons have volunteered to date for the donation of a pint of their blood to replenish the blood plasma bank at the Shaw hospital. The plasma is to be available to local physicians where it is found necessary for treatment of local people.

The personnel from the state health department who will let the blood will be at the Elks Temple Monday through Friday of next week. It is hoped that as many as possible will become donors. The unit will be equipped to handle between 60 and 70 persons daily.

Appointments can be made by calling the local Health department office at 509 or filling out one of the appointment cards which may be obtained from members of the Lions, Rotary, Women's clubs and the American Legion and its Auxiliary.

Wed Wednesday

Miss Evelyn Gardner, daughter of Mrs. Henry Gardner, of North Front street, became the bride of Henry Weber, son of Mrs. Sebastian Weber, Sr., at a ceremony Wednesday at 5:30 a. m. at St. Francis de Sales church.

The vows were exchanged before Rev. B. J. P. Scheyers, who was celebrant of the nuptial mass. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Weber, Jr., brother and sister-in-law of the groom.

The bride wore a rust colored street length dress with rust accessories and a corsage of white roses. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom. Her bridesmaid wore a soldier blue dress with white accessories and pink and white roses were used to form her corsage.

Mrs. Gardner, mother of the bride wore a navy blue dress and Mrs. Weber wore a royal blue dress.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother to immediate members of the family. The centerpiece of the table was a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The couple left later in the morning on a wedding trip to points unknown. For traveling, the bride wore a navy blue suite with white accessories.

Both were graduates of the local school and the groom is the proprietor of the Hub.

The saxophone is named after its inventor, Adolph Sax.

Yanks Grab League Lead In 7 to 6 Victory As Browns Lose to 5

NEW YORK CLUB SHOWS OLD ZIP

Boston Red Sox Bested In Twelve Innings Of Crucial Game

BY BILL KING
Boston, Mass., Sept. 8 (AP)—Displaying much of the fire and determination of their famed predecessors of yesteryears, the New York Yankees regained undisputed possession of first place by outbattling the Boston Red Sox for a 7-6 decision in 12-innings today while opening their crucial four-game farwell series here.

Losers in their last six Fenway starts, the Yanks put together an error, two dinky infield hits and Ossie Grimes' double for their two-run winning rally against Fireman Red Barrett, who relieved Joe Bowman after the 10th.

But the sockers came back fighting in their side of the 12th and their four batters reached base on Milt Pappas' error, who took over for starter Hank Borowy when a 5-5 deadlock was threatened in the 10th frame.

Borowy was given a two-outcome but it was wiped out when Johnson clouted his 17th homer of the season with two on in the last of the first. Etten's 19th homer gave the Yankees their fifth tally in the 10th.

Snuffy Stirnweis, who collected two singles and a walk, stole his 50th and 51st bases and George Metkovich got a 10th-inning single that boosted his consecutive game hitting total to 22.

Mary Agnes Wall Loses Semi-finals

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 8 (AP)—Betty Jean Rucker of Spokane and Phyllis Otto of Omaha became the contenders for the third annual Broadmoor invitation golf title today when they stroked out victories over formidable opponents in the 18-hole semi-finals.

Miss Rucker defeated Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., 5 and 4, in a match that saw both consistently make tee shots beyond 200 yards. Miss Rucker's sharp approach shots and dead-eye putting were the deciding factors.

Detroit Lions Cut Squad To 34 Men

Detroit, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Detroit Lions pro football practice squad was shaved to 34 men today—only six above the National League limit—with release of a pair of rookies, End Jim Wellman and Center Jack Simmons.

Gus Dorais, starting his second year as coach of the pros, gave them their first day of rest since practice started August 26 when he called off all practice today for a session before the photographs.

A light workout is set for Saturday and a private intrasquad game will be played Sunday afternoon for the sailors at Grasse II navy base. The public cannot be admitted to the grounds.

Detroit, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, enjoying a day off from the red-hot American League pennant fight today, will have their three top flingers ready for a trio of week end tussles with Cleveland at Briggs Stadium.

Manager Steve O'Neill nominated Frank Overmire, winner of six straight pitching decisions, for the starting assignment in Saturday's single game. Overmire, opposing right-hander Ed Kileman, can boost his season percentage to an even .500 by winning his 11th decision.

Detroit's red-hot "left-right" pitching punch, Hal Newhouse and Dizzy Trout, were listed by O'Neill as tentative starters against the Tribe in a Sunday doubleheader. Newhouse will be aiming for his 24th triumph against eight losses and Trout, who blanked the Indians Thursday on three hits, will come back after his 25th victory against 10 setbacks in the nightcap.

Manager Lou Roudreau had not decided on his Sunday Cleveland pitchers. The Tigers tomorrow will be gunning for their eighth victory in their last ten games.

The Tigers lost a half game today in their drive for first place when New York assumed sole possession of the top spot by whipping Boston. St. Louis, bowing to Chicago, dropped a game off the pace and now is second, a half game ahead of Detroit.

Hit and Miss—According to Connie Mack, the rookie of the year, the capture of Crete was the first time in history that an island was captured in an air-borne operation.

But it was the British who kept this German conquest strictly air-borne, for their Navy defied bombs to smash the Nazi sea-borne attack.

Britain claimed 20,000 Nazis drowned when warships flying the Union Jack trapped German craft between Greece and Crete in a night operation.

The attack began on the morning of May 20, 1941, when after preparatory bombing 11,500 German paratroopers were landed within four hours. Twelve days later the British admitted the battle was over.

The Germans claimed capture of 10,000 Empire and Greek soldiers. The British said less than 4,000 were taken prisoner.

Scrap in Steel

Approximately 50 per cent of the "charge" on an open-hearth furnace in the steel industry normally is scrap, with most of the remainder being pig iron.

BATTLE TOUGH FOR ST. LOUIS

Homer And Six Doubles Help White Sox Pitcher

Chicago, Sept. 8 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns today lost their hold on a tie for the American League lead when they were defeated by the Chicago White Sox, 9 to 5. The Browns now are in second place, trailing the New York Yankees by a full game.

The Sox's victory was due to Bill Dietrich's seven-hit pitching and an attack of extra base hits that included a homer by Dietrich and six doubles by his mates.

The Browns fought an uphill battle throughout, three times coming from behind, once to take the lead and twice to tie, only to have the Sox drive in pairs of runs against reliever A. Hollingsworth in the seventh and eighth innings to break a 5-5 tie. It was the Browns' 14th defeat in their last 20 games.

Bob Munier, making his first start in 12 days because of elbow trouble, was found for seven of Chicago's eleven hits, including Dietrich's homer with none on in the third.

Score by innings:
St. Louis — 020 200 100—5 7 1
Chicago — 012 110 22x—9 11 2
